HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY

the music of the spheres to heal.

President's Message

Donna Henson, President

I hope all of you are enjoying this Mother's Day, a day to honor our mothers whether they are still with us or not. With no ASNT meeting this month, you'll be free to do this in your own way.

I know my Capricorn mother used to wonder whether or not astrology was "useful." (Isn't that just like a Capricorn, since "I use" is their keyword.) With Pluto in Capricorn now, I can tell you that it is very useful.

For example: We were ready to go to breakfast at IHOP as we do each morning. That morning, we could not find our kitty, Meggie. We hunted in the whole house including the garage, the closets, a few drawers and all her hiding places. No Meggie. Finally we decided to go on thinking she would surely be in the house when we got back. When we got back home, there was still no Meggie, so we looked in the yard. At that point there was nothing to do but to set up a chart.

The chart indicated that she was in the house (moon angular). Now we looked again through the rest of the drawers, cabinets, etc. – no Meggie. At that point I concluded that the chart must be wrong, so we searched our neighbor's yard and checked with the animal shelter. – no Meggie. As a last resort, we thought we needed to get in the car and search more of the neighborhood, but just before we left, I remembered that she was good about coming back and usually went to a door. So I opened the back bedroom door, one we seldom opened, and there she was between the glass door and the main door. (I had opened that door quickly that morning to see whether it was cold outside or not.)

The chart had indicated this all along. Her ruler, Mercury, was besieged between Mars and Saturn indicating that she was "hemmed in." Mercury was in the 10th, in Scorpio about 3 feet from an outside hydrant. (Water signs indicate that the lost may be near a water source.)

Now if I'd just learn to believe what I see in the charts! The data for the chart is Nov. 21, 2013, at 10:25 am, here in Richland Hills, TX.
